In addition to having customized EPG display formats, the control buttons on the television set, remote control 21, as seen in Figure 2, and/or other devices which operate with the television system can be customized to enable user's suffering from certain disabilities, such as color blindness or poor sight to operate the controls relating to the EPG. For example, as seen in Figure 2, the control buttons 24 and 26 can be shaped and colored such that a user can recognize a particular shaped key 24 with a particular function of the EPG as seen in Figure 1C. The user can be provided with the option of providing colored buttons, shaped buttons or a combination of colored and shaped buttons in the guide page or on a screen menu. The button shapes can include square, triangular, circular, diamond shaped buttons and/or other shapes. The operational keys 24 on remote control 21 are provided in specific shapes such that pre-defined operations are initiated by selecting a specific shaped key. Preferably the shaped operational keys 26 are provided in pre-determined colors such that pre-defined operations are initiated by selecting a specific shaped and colored keys 26. The combination of shaped and colored keys 26 provides the user with two means of distinguishing an operational key
